GHOST ON THE LOOSE

Suspensions have been rising and trouble is stirring around Ledsham someone or something has struck again and people are starting to believe this thing could be less than human.

Reports have been read and the bone-shaking truth has come out. After interviewing the young James Harrison-who seems to be in the centre of all this-he has been led to believe that he is being haunted by a ghost. He talked about finding notes all over his home from this so-called ghost and that he usually keeps quiet when we have visitors. After hearing some shocking news from our people we have noticed this could be true.

Red old-fashioned writing has been found all over Ledsham and many have said this writing came with threats. A teacher has explained seeing red writing on his blackboard this stated that his teaching was a disgrace and he should not be teaching his apprentice like this. Who could this apprentice be? James's Mam has quoted that 'I love my son very much but I think his imagination is taking the best of him. I have punished him but he is still blabbering away about this complete nonsense.' This ghost is all anyone can talk about. Now if this is all true then who could be

Simon (one of James's closest friends) has spotted a man named Bert Ellison scurrying into James's home at East End cottage. Has anybody heard of Mr Ellison? He was said to be 'fixing cupboards' but although he doesn't like fibbers this was actually a lie. After much pushing he finally spilled and said while lighting another cigarette, 'I believe I can get rid of the ghost with some tools from my work and afterall somebody has to put this ghost in his place why not me?' Does that mean all of this is true? There is a ghost on the loose around Ledsham but not for long. When interviewing James Harrion,the finder of this horrifying ghost,he said that he has proven evidence that this ghost's name is Thomas Kempe who according to research died and lived in James's home today.
