Can I write a diary entry?

Dear diary,

Wow! What an awesome day, I've had the best day ever. Let me tell you all about it...

As I slowly entered the mysterious crypt, all around me was pitch black. I could barely see from wall to wall. I held onto my torch and guide book as tight as I could, while my legs trembled and turned to jelly. Carefully, I opened my book and followed the directions that led me down the dark, dusty corridors where debris crumpled around my feet. You won't believe this, but as I crept curiously through the corridors something slapped me! Ouch! I got the fright of my life.

Without a sound, I stretched my arm out and pulled a lever in front of me. Nervously, I entered a room and all around me lights flickered as bright as the sun and beautiful, ancient artwork surrounded the walls. I saw another lever in front of me, I had to reach for it, after all I had come all this way to find the treasure I wasn't turning back now. I couldn't believe what happened next! Right before my eyes, shiny gold glittered in front of me!

You aren't going to believe what happened next! All of a sudden, a mummy began to chase me through the crypt. Petrified, I ran through the dark corridors as quick as a flash. The sweat was pouring off me and my heart was pounding when two other mummies joined the chase. Quickly, I had to grab out my book when in front of me a pool of fiery, orange lava glowed and blocked my way. The book told me to jump, shaking with fear I jumped!

Phew! to my relief a magic path appeared. I ran as fast as I could and entered a train. I shouted back "ner,ner" and laughed out loud. Suddenly, as I turned in front of me stood five shocked children. I wonder if they had a scary adventure like me? I would definitely visit again because now I know my way and what might happen.
