GHOST HAUNTS YOUNG BOY

An innocent boy in ledsham explains how he suspects a ghost might be living and haunting his family.

BY KEIRA

The small town of England, Ledsham, was confused yesterday as a young school boy named James Harrison explained how he thought there was a ghost living in his house (East End Cottage. He claims the ghost is from the eighteenth century and goes by the name ‘Thomas Kempe’. He had got the whole village wondering if he is lying or not. Local ghost catcher Mr Bert Ellison mentions that he is trying to help James as much as possible. We asked Bert why he wanted to become a ghost catcher and this was his response,” I wanted to become a ghost catcher because when I was little a ghost was getting me in trouble and no one believed me just like James except my dad and we eventually caught the ghost and i want to help people with their situation to.” Simon , aged 10, is James’ best friend and he said he didn’t believe him. Here’s some questions we asked James and his Mam.

“Thomas Kempe is targeting me and asking me to be his apprentice!” said James,”He’s getting me in trouble and breaking my stuff.”

After we asked James about what weird events have been going on, we asked Miss Harrison for further information.

“As you can see I’m very embarrassed about the whole thing because James lies a lot and this could be another one.” explained Mrs Harrison “I do think it’s weird since when we moved in peculiar things have been going on in the cottage, the vase smashing out of nowhere and how there was strange words written on the chalkboard when I was selling apples, it read, sorcerie, astrologie, geomancie, alchemie, recoverie of goodes loste and physike.”

Do you think there is a ghost?

“A little bit or it’s just a coincidence,” said James’ Mam.

This was one of the most interesting things that has occurred on Strange Sightings Daily in months. With the help of Bert Ellison we can finally confirm after a week or so, he succeeded in catching Thomas Kempe. James and Bert are thrilled as East End Cottage is ghost free!
