Young, innocent boy claims a ghost is living with him.

The small, quiet town named Lesham had a returned visit from a poltergeist. After a suggestion by James Harrison, age 10, the investigation to find the alleged ghost.

After a bold interview with James, we found out that mysterious things have been happening in East End Cottage (the Harrisons house) for a few weeks now. James has been to the library and even tried to talk to the ghost but then that didn't work as Thomas Kempe, the ghost, refused to and then made James' room a mess. After the interview, some other information came up that James had a thought of how the spirit had gotten out. On the day they moved in, the builders were there and found a bottle with green liquid in and then they smashed it and ever since then weird things have been happening.

"Ahhh! that's how the spirit came out!" Bert Ellison -the ghost catcher- explained with joy.

"Really!" Screamed James with excitement!

"Yes!"

After all of this time, James then found out that that's why the ghost has been harassing him for a few weeks now.

"What made you believe there was a ghost upon you?" reporter Alex asked.

James continued to answer with, "There were a lot of weird things happening but I was just curious and believed that the house was just old and needed building to be done. But then things got more weird. There were notes with very old-fashioned writing and then my Mother had a new pen and notebook and he wrote in there. He also got me into trouble in school as he was writing notes about Mrs. Verity."

After a while of investigating, Helen then wanted to inform bert that he had started making a mess of the full house. Helen also confirmed that she did not believe at the beginning but now she has released things that have been happening to her as well.

Bert then came over to us and said that he does not have many very ideas to get rid of this poltergeist. The things happening are very eerie and confusing as he only appears once a day doing something very desperate and needing attention. While Bert was taking to the reporters Thomas Struck and then...

Is he gone?
