

Who- Knows -Who is-Who Knows Where

By Deborah Head leader international reporter for the Daily Prophet

On 31st October 1981, You-know-Who was finally defeated by young Harry Potter. Two days ago on Halloween night. The dark Wizard arrived at the Potter's house and committed murder. Sadly, Lily and James Potter were crucially murdered whereas their young son Harry survived. Shakingly, it is currently unknown how young Harry Potter survived; we do know the dark lord's reign has ended.

Yesterday, after finding You- know- whose powers are gone , people all cheered and celebrated. In the streets, large groups of witches and wizards in magnificent colorful cloaks gathered around. Unusually, people started hugging muggles leaving them in absolute shock. We know we were so overjoyed "rejoice for You -Know-Who has left his cursed body away leaving us in happiness. Everybody should be celebrating this Happy-Happy day!" a Joyful wizard told our reporter on a London street

Humorously , our enthusiastic celebrations made the muggle news last night. All day, silly billy muggles reported strange and peculiar behavior However owls were only sending our messages . At night our magic celebratory sparks were shooting stars. While speaking to Mrs Munchie, a muggle expert, she explained , " We need to make sure our powerful magical creations don't attract muggles to letting out our secrets.

Thankfully the most vicious You- Know-who is gone and we can live forward to years of peace. No one wants You -Know who to be coming back. We thankfully owe this all to Potter that will grow to be a great wizard. He is now called the boy-who -lived . Sadly, we can not interview him because all he knows is to say gogo gaga "I am painfully sad about the death of Lily and James but that boy is still alive and will be a great wizard "Dumbledore Quoted
